2020-07-17

The ICCA (International Congress and Convention Association) has published a report which shows that the most popular country to host meetings of international associations in 2019 was the United States. Poland - as in the previous edition of the ranking - was in 19th place.

In the 2019 ICCA Statistics Report, crucial for the industry, Krakow comes 48th in the world, and 29th in Europe, hosting 54 meetings of associations.

In the international ranking of countries, Poland ranked 19th and 12th in Europe with 213 meetings.

The international ranking 2019 ICCA Statistics Report covers over 110 countries around the world, including Poland. From among Polish cities, Warsaw was ranked first – according to the ICCA data, 71 meetings were organised in the capital, which gives the city the 20th place in Europe and 34th in the international ranking.

Data is collected from the ICCA members whose task is to collect and send information about meetings held in their city, region, country. The analysed meetings must meet three conditions: take place cyclically, gather at least 50 participants and migrate between at least three countries. The ICCA report is one of the key publications summarising the number of meetings of associations in a given country and in individual cities.
